Letters to Santa Claus.

Dear Santa Claus: Piease be so kind and send six tickets of the Christman-Tree Fund, for we are very poor, and my mamma can't buy us any clothes nor toys. I am fourteen years old and the oldest of six children. My father deserted us a year and a half ago, when my youngest brother was born. My poor mamma has to work very hard to keep us from starving, and so, dear Santa Claus, I hope you will not forget us and please don't forget my poor mamma.

KATIE BROESSLEER, — Sixth street.
P. S.—Rosle, Annie, Jakie, Herman and Johnny send their best regards.

Dear Santa Claus: Will you please send me three tickets for myself, my little sister and brother. Papa has not worked for one whole year, and the doctor says he will never work again. We cannot have any Christmas, for mamma cannot earn enough for that so we are very lucky to get bread and butter. Addence would like a big doll, and Willie would like an open slate or a blackboard, and I would like an open slate or a blackboard, and I would like an open slate or a blackboard, and I would like a non-tended to the state of the state o

Dear Santa Claus: My brothers have got me o write you this letter, letting you know that must not forget them this Christmas, as dren, counting myself, and only pape's money coming in, and that is not much, so, dear Santa Claus, do not forget us, and we will thank you HARRY, CHARLIE, JAMES E., JOHN H. and

In other words, there is dissension in the camp of the enemy-the wholesale favor of doing justice to the consumer by reducing the price of the standard loaf of bread to three cents, so that the retailer can sell it for four cents; the other contingent declares it is impossible that the only equitable way in which the weight of the present five-cent loaf from

READING, Pa., Nov. 26.—The Market Cigar-Mikers Unions has created a flurry ters at 41 Bartiett street. READING, Pa., Nov. 26.—The Market of Commissioner has created a flurry a among bakers of Reading by issuing a notice that on and after Jan. I they will be required to sell bread by weight. This action is taken under an oid act of a Assembly passed in 1797, which directs that all bread shall be sold by the pound, and imposes a penalty of $10 for every violation. As the law has been a dead letter for generations its enforcement is likely to work a revelation in the baking business here.

MOUNT RAINIER'S MYSTERY. Smoke Was Again Seen at Its Sum

mit Yesterday. (By Associated Press.) SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 26.-Mount

Rainler became visible yesterady afteroon for the first time since the strange cloud at its summit was observed last Wednesday. Henry Surrey, who first called attention to the smoke, examined it through a strong glass, and adheres to his original statement. He says the north peak stands out more distinctly than ever; that sharp points have appeared on the west side, and that on this side there is a sharp descent, with a rough surface, apparently made by an avaianche.

He says that not only did he see smoke last Wednesday, but saw it again yesterday in smaller volumes, and that it arose yellow in color, from the summit. The whole summit is again white with snow. Furrey has made a map. Several other persons confirm his statements. Surrey should be competent to speak on the subject, for he has seen many volcances. oud at its summit was observed last
